THE HISTORY

The history of the factory dates back to the times of the Austro-Hungarian Empire and has belonged to the Carl Stölzle dynasty since 1725, where crystal was made by hand. After almost 200 years Carl Stölzle AG Niklashütte was closed.

In 2010, the old Carl Stölzle glassworks site in Alt-Nagelberg in the Waldviertel region north of Vienna was acquired by engineer Gerhard Illek. It was supposed to be a pure investment project. But things turned out differently. When Gerhard started rummaging around in the building, he came across a huge archive of technical drawings, wooden molds and glass that had been produced there since the beginning of the 17th century. In these documents he also came across the glasses of the Sophienwald Hütte, which also belonged to the historic Stölzle Glas empire and was mentioned in documents from as early as 1725 in Alt-Nagelberg. These old documents fascinated Gerhard so much that in 2013 he decided to breathe new life into Sophienwald – like PHOENIX from the ash.

Over the course of that year, he created the first glass samples, which he then presented to the first winemakers and sommeliers at the beginning of 2014. The feedback was tremendous!

At the beginning of 2014, Gerhard Illek and Manfred Schwarz, a South Tyrolean wine merchant met and immediately agreed to make Sophienwald big together. Gerhard and Manfred still design each glass by hand. These sketches serve as the basis for the development of each glass.

UNIQUENESS & DESIGN LANGUAGE

Every glass is unique! Each glass is a work of art, made by hand and blown in wooden molds, as the old glassblowing tradition demands. Small differences are a feature of the uniqueness of each glass. It is impossible to produce two identical glasses.

The tulip shape was already very much en vogue in the 18th century. Although the glasses were not as thin-walled and elegant, the tulip shape has always characterized Sophienwald glasses.

OUR COLLECTIONS

We have divided our glasses into two collections. Phoenix and Grand Cru.

The Phoenix are very technical and are among the most accurate tasting glasses on the market. The collection includes all the glasses that a passionate wine lover or gastronome needs. Light, elegant and above all perfect for today's modern wines.

The Grand Cru collection adopts the design language of the Phoenix collection, but is taller and has a larger volume. Ideal for mature wines

Both collections combine elegance and precision.
